Welcome to jur:next!

jur:next teams excellent graduates and students for legal individualised teaching!

The idea: The aim of jur:next is bringing together excellent graduates and students for legal individualised teaching to very fair conditions! What started at one location is now available in Germany nationwide. The principle is simple: graduates pass on their knowledge to students and agree upon a price with the students themselves. There are various possibilities to benefit from jur:next.

jur:next individualised teaching: You are an ERASMUS student or a student from abroad and would like to pass an exam or collect missing credit-points? You are looking for someone who teaches you examination subjects and is at the same time open to your individual questions? Then you are on the right track with jur:next! We provide true experts, who help you to reach learning objectives at fair conditions!

jur:next international: You believe in the idea of Europe and think that our project could have a perspective in your home country as well? You support the idea of passing on knowledge from excellent graduates to students and think that this could also be an idea for your home country? Then we are more than happy to get to know you! You are welcome to send in your curriculum vitae with your ideas and agenda!
